DETAILED ACTION

1. Applicant's amendment filed September 15, 2005, and the arguments with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-19 under 35 USC 102 (b) and 103(a) have been fully considered and are persuasive in light of the amended claims. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, the arguments are moot in view of a new ground(s) of rejection. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL.

Election/Restrictions

2. Applicant's election with traverse of Group I, readable in claims 1-19, in the reply filed on June 1, 2005, is acknowledged. The traversal is on the ground(s) that "examination of the claims to the device and method pose no additional burden upon examiner". This is not found persuasive because claims 1-19 are drawn to a carrying device by hand, classified in claim 294 and claim 20 is drawn to a method of transporting shoes or skis, classified in class 280. The method requires selecting the shoes, creating a hole on each heel of the shoe with a tool, and connecting the shoes by attaching a strap, which requires additional searches in classes 280 and 36, that would pose additional burden to the examiner. The requirement is still deemed proper and is therefore made FINAL.

3. This application contains claim 20 being drawn to an invention nonelected with traverse on June 1, 2005. A complete reply to the final rejection must include cancellation of nonelected claims or other appropriate action (37 CFR 1.144) See MPEP § 821.01.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

4. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Art Unit: 3652

5. Claims 8 and 18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

The claimed languages of claims 8 and 18 are vague and indefinite. Applicant recites "the connecting strap being comprised of rope material" and it is unclear as to the particular meaning of "rope material". Applicant argues that "rope material is a commonly understood term in the art" (first paragraph of page 11). The examiner disagrees the argument. Note that a rope can be made of different materials such as nylon, steel, fabric, plastic, wires, and so on, and there is no definition as "rope materials", as applicant argues.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

6. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

7. Claims 1-3,8, and 9, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Goodman (3,812,603).

Goodman (3,812,603) discloses a shoe holder comprising a connecting strap (18 or 22), a pair of quick release members (see Fig. 4) having an engaging front portion and a heel portion (see Exhibit A, next page), and a pair of securing members, barbed end connectors, having a receiving barrel portion and a tool portion to receive the engaging barrel portion, wherein one of the barrel portion is permanently located inside a footwear

(16), and a housing member (17) detachably mountable to the connecting strap (18 or 22).

Re claims 2 and 3, the adjustable housing member (24) is being made of metal or plastic strap (Col. 2, lines 37-46) capable of being gripped by hand.

Re claims 8 and 9, the connecting strap (18,22) is being made of a resilient cord or an elastic cord (Col. 2, lines 19-25).

Exhibit AClaim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

8. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3652

9. Claims 1,8-11,18, and 19, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schuetzeberg (4,733,897) in view of Marker (3,931,980).

Schuetzeberg discloses a carrier for shoes comprising a connecting strap (24) or a rubber strap and a fabric strap (46), a pair of shoes (see Fig. 1), a pair of quick release members (40,48) having an engaging front portion and a heel portion (Fig. 3), a pair of securing members (20,22) to receive the quick release members, and a housing (26,28). Schuetzeberg does not clearly show one of the securing members having a receiving barrel portion and a tool portion. However, Marker (3,931,980) teaches a quick release member (78) and a securing member (see Figs. 11-14 or another embodiment Figs. 15-18) having a receiving barrel portion and a tool portion. Accordingly, it would have been obvious to those skilled in the art to provide a securing member of Schuetzeberg (4,733,897) as taught by Marker (3,931,980) to quickly connect and disconnect the shoes and the strap.

10. Claims 2-7,12-17, as best understood, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Schuetzeberg (4,733,897) in view of Marker (3,931,980), as applied to claims 1 and 11, and further in view of Schwartz (5,255,947) (see PTO-892).

Re claims 2,4,6,12,14,and 16, Schuetzeberg (4,733,897), as presented in section 9 above, does not show that the housing member (28,26) is being made of plastic, woven textile, or leather. However, Schwartz (5,255,947) teaches housing members (36,39) being made of any flexible or semi-flexible materials such as plastic, leather, heavy gauge fabric, and the like (lines 6-51 of Col. 3). Accordingly, it would have been obvious to those skilled in the art to provide the flexible or semi-flexible materials such as plastic, leather, heavy gauge fabric on the strap and the housing member of Schuetzeberg

(4,733,897) as taught by Schwartz (5,255,947) to provide a rigid housing (for plastic) and a flexible housing (for leather or textile) enclosing the strap.

Re claims 3,5,7,13,15, and 17, Schuetzeberg's carrier is capable of adjusting the connection with the strap (24,46).

Response to Arguments

11. Applicant's amendment filed September 15, 2005, and the arguments with respect to the rejection(s) of claim(s) 1-19 under 35 USC 102 (b) and 103(a) have been fully considered and are persuasive in light of the amended claims. Therefore, the rejection has been withdrawn. However, the arguments are moot in view of a new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

12. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

13. Applicant's amendment (the addition of new structural limitations in claims 1 and 11, in combination with other structural limitations) necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3652
